Missionary Feature for the month of September
Jeremy & Kara Hawbaker

Jeremy and Kara joined Wycliffe Bible Translators in 2009. They went to Central Asia to focus on learning the Mountain language with the goal of future Scripture translation. They have lived in Steinbach, Manitoba since 2019, and Jeremy currently has a local job here. Kara continues working on the Mountain language project. She works closely, via the internet, with mother tongue speakers living in the country in Asia where they lived previously. They are translating a series of prophet stories, stories of Jesus’ life, and anticipating the beginning of Scripture translation soon. The Hawbakers have four children, two in middle school and two in high school. Last October Kara took Leslie, and this past June took Liesl to their country, which was a great encouragement to them all. The story of the life of Jesus is almost ready to send to the consultant for further checking. One translator and Kara also meet regularly with an IT specialist to enter Mountain grammar into TBTA (The Bible Translator’s Assistant) software. When enough grammar has been entered into TBTA, hopefully by the time the prophets’ life stories are finished later this year, they can transition to Scripture translation at that point.
